

[THE FIVE HABANOS OF FEBRUARY]

As we are on the shortest month of the year we have selected those five petit cigars to be enjoyed in such a short period of time. They all make up the perfect combination of a symphony of flavour and aromas.

Hoyo de Monterrey Petit Robustos (102x50). This Petit cigar makes up a perfect proportion and balance between its flavours and aromas. Highlighted by the spiced touches makes this cigar easy to smoke. It's wooden and soft flavour allows us the placer to smoke it in 30/35 minutes.

Partagas Serie D No 5 (110x50). The taste of this Partagas is very persistent in the mouth, with slightly spicy touches. From its beginnings after which there are traces of cocoa and nuts that relegate the aromas, with an end of higher density of smoke, whose flavours allows the luxury of leaving an elegant and dense trail in the taste buds.

Time of smoke : 35/40 minutes.

Montecristo Petit Edmundo (102x52). Splendid acquisition of the traditional Montecristo brings back the links of the most classic cigars. Surprising for its character in the small format and very rich to smoke to its end, all with a great intensity of flavour and density of its smoke, accompanied by a slight itch and increased strength in its ends.

Time of smoke : 30/35 minutes.

Romeo y Julieta Petit Churchill (102x50). This petit encloses a clear proportion and balance between its flavours and aromas, with special attention to the great perception of the spicy touches that make it very rich and very easy to smoke with a great shot, soft and with very clear woody touches among the highlight light salted tips.

Time of smoke : 30/35 minutes.

Cohiba Maduro Mágicos (115x52). It almost contains 15 grams of well aged tobacco, which offers wooden tones at the beginning , dry and very taste as it gets smoked with and increase of strength with bitter touches that are interspersed with honey noted and toward the end enhances the flavour in the mouth.

Time of smoke : 40/45 minutes.
